June 22, 2011

Dearest FCTE Members,

As always, please review the headings to see what interests you, let me know if you've moved (bulk mail is not forwarded), and let me know if you ever want to opt out of the FCTE Newsbox.

Are you wondering, how is it possible to still obtain professional opportunities and collaboration with our non-existent budget in education?

The answer is the Florida Council of Teachers of English!

FCTE ANNUAL CONFERENCE:

Consequently, your opportunity to participate and attend our FCTE Annual Conference is right around the corner-- these is YOUR opportunity to collaborate, share and rejuvenate with innovative ideas to remember why articulation with your peers is so pivotal! Take a moment to evaluate our featured conference speakers and reflect on the highlights of spending some time with professionals in our field.

MEMBERSHIP:

Not only are you a member of our FCTE family of professional language arts educators, you are the catalyst of change or the change agent within our field--consider this, being a member of the Florida Council of Teachers of English validates your professional alliance with men and women who aspire to greatness daily to enrich the lives of students regarding the focus of language arts, reading, creative writing and research-based pursuits. Take some time to reach out to your colleagues and share the value of a professional organization dedicated to serving the needs of our members and continually striving toward productive advocacy on behalf of all language arts educators. Membership is a vital part of your vestment as a language arts educator in Florida. For the Florida attendees of the NCTE Convention in November 2010, your membership expires in November 2011--what are the rewards of belonging to a professional affiliation?? You can't put a price tag on the positive value of colleagues sharing the same mission, goals and desires in our field. Renew your membership today and receive the opportunity to attend the FCTE Annual Convention at the Orlando Renaissance Airport.
